TradingMission.com, Carlos Diaz, Founder, CEO, and Head Trader: 7:00 am EST ~ until profit target hit. CL and NQ.

Carlos presents as a very supportive and gracious head trader that exhibits genuine attention to room attendee P/L success and trade understanding (he confirms such understanding with his "please acknowledge" phrase). A well experienced fund manager, Carlos states up front that you can cut out the learning curve he went through and watch "over his shoulder" to emulate his trades in real time. His room has a small army in attendance and his focus is on trading, not teaching, so if you are pleased with his trading, he provides mentorship and teaching on his trade methods, strategies and objectives. When market conditions do not meet his standards, he will not trade. Over the past year, he averaged 2.13 trades/d; in the 3 months I observed his room the average was slightly less (1.74 trades/d), presumably reflecting typical seasonal malaise. His P/L average well exceeds the net $50K/y (based on 3 contracts per trade) and each trade is managed in real time: 1st target is in the 10-12 tk range; stops are moved to lock in profits and the strategy changes to maximize a runner target. I found his room a splendid example of truthfulness, transparency and profitability, and he exhibits financial stewardship to all attendees.
